

The Woman Who Borrowed Memories

Roan Shankaruk
Vancouver, Canada
Playwright: Roan Shankaruk
girl-in-boots.com

The show includes English surtitle captions, making it d/Deaf Accessible. It is also low vision friendly.

Intense / Musical / Poetic / 14+ / 55 minutes / Deaf and low vision

It was so refreshing to see an opera at the Fringe! The Woman Who Borrows Memories is a creepy one act chamber opera. Roan Shankaruk wears the hats of the performer and the composer in this production. The UBC grad created a mystifying, unsettling atmosphere with her incredible music. The music is wicked hard, and the singers and pianist Derek Stanyer did a wonderful job. The characters and the music work together to convey this indescribable chilling feeling. Modern opera can be scary for the unfamiliar listeners but the story is so good I'd recommend it to any Fringe goer.

- M. Smith

Sept 14, 2019